

How to own your message and speak with confidence

Structure to organise your thoughts

+
A way to speak to audience motivation + get their Nod

+
You be you with your special gifts and talents

+
Practice

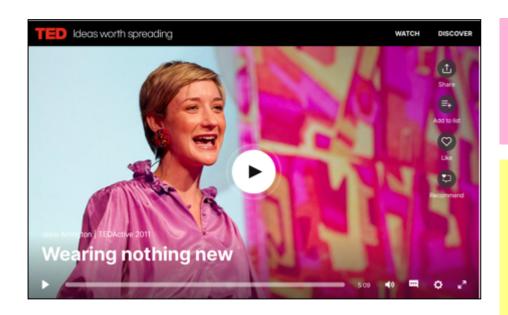

=
You will shine like Rita Pierson

What if? What?

Organise your thoughts with 4MAT an Accelerated Learning Model

- 1. Here's why this is important This will help you achieve your goals of and prevent or solve these problems... Get their Nod, and even ask for it. Does this make sense?
- 2. What it is all about facts
- 3. Here is how I think it could work offer these ideas
- 4. What questions do you have?

- 1. Confidence is key.
- 2. Colour is powerful and good for your mood.
- 3. Fitting in is over-rated people will 'get you' and appreciate you.
- 4. Gold sequins go with everything.
- 5. It's OK to let go.

You be you with your special gifts and talents

Your work niche

Quirk

+

Eye contact, short sentences and straight spine

Your Plan to Shine

- 1. Decide what is interesting about you and you are comfortable others at work knowing (your quirk).
- 2. Let a little of that out at work, informally.
- 3. Decide your work niche your expertise.
- 4. Convene a short seminar to present on your niche topic.
 - Give it a quirk-flavoured title. Put up flyers and advertise. Invite some key people who are well networked your agency. Use your magic sentence to say why your topic is important to them.
 - Begin your seminar with a short story about your quirk. Make the link from your story to your niche topic, by saying This story reminds me of [topic].
 - O Use 4MAT. Start with your magic sentence to say why your topic is important to them.
 - Lather rinse repeat do more seminars every couple of months.
- 5. Convene a brainstorming session for a narly topic and invite people who are well networked and also have a dollop of high personal brand and think a bit differently. Keep it short and fun.

- Bernice McCarthy. Teaching Around the 4MAT Cycle, (2006).
- Brenda Ratcliff: Polished Leadership. Enhance your Natural Charisma to boost your career success (2014).

